MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES. QUITE A BREEZY COURT-MARTIAL.

The Conduct of Superior Officers Called in Question-A Fighting Troop-The Court Recommends Other Cases to Be Tried.

The trial of Quartermaster-Sergeant C. L. Hamilton, of Troop A. Virginia Cavalry, more popular known as the Stuart Horse Guards, upon a charge of disobedience of orders, permitting the use of the cavalry Armory for other than military purposes, and for permitting a breach of the peace to take place there, was conducted at the Regimental Armory last night before the general court-martial recently appointed by Governor O'Ferrall.

The accused pleaded guilty to the charge and the specifications, but tried to show by several witnesses that there were mitigating circumstances, in that he was ignorant of the gravity of the offence; that his record as a soldier was unsullied hitherto, and that the example of his commanding officer, Captain E. C. Euker, and the treatment he received at his hands were not calculated to inspire respect. Sergeant Hamilton was not represented by counsel, and he brought out his points somewhat awkwardly, yet the trial was decidedly

Captain Euker took the stand in re buttal, and made a sweeping denial of the testimony introduced by the prisoner. The court reached its verdict in executive session, and it will be sealed and sent to the Governor to-day. CHARGES AGAINST NEGRO OFFI-CERS.

The court did not convene with military promptness. The following members were present: Major W. E. Simons, presiding Captain F. M. Wood, judge advocate Captain E. J. Euker, Captain G. Shackelford, Captain W. S. P. Ma Captain A. S. Lanler, Lieutenant R. Mayo Williams, and Captain Morgan R. Mills. Major L. T. Christian was absent. Mr. D. A. Ritchie was present as recorder, and Sergeant-Major Gibson, of the First Regiment, acted as sergeant-at-arms.

The attention of the court was first (c-cupled with a communication from the Governor, to the effect that when the Inspector-General examined the band of the First Battalion (colored) a man named Benjamin answered to Gwathmey, the latter being absent. man named James Langhorne was responsible for this trick, which had as its object the increasing of the percentage of the battallen, though it was carried out with the due knowledge of the band apers to the Adjutant-General with gainst Langhorne and the bandmaster.

A. First Battallon Infantry (colored), preferred charges in writing against Lieutenant Abram L. Morton, for neglect of duty in being absent from drills since April 1, 1897; in leaving the State without permission, and in failing to report on his return to the city ith ultimo. These charges were also referred to the Adjutant-General, with recommendation that due cognizance be taken of them. CASE OF SERGEANT HAMILTON.

After these matters had been disposed of the Judge Advocate announced that he was ready to proceed with the trial of Quartermaster-Sergeant Hamilton. Captain Eaker said as he had preferred the charges he would like to retire from It was suggested by othe members that he should remain unless the prisoner objected. This, the prisoner did very promptly, when the order for the court-martial was read to him, and he was asked whether he objected to the presence of any of the members named

The charges were read, with the specifications, and when the prisoner was asked whether he was guilty or not be created a mild sensation by pleading guilty to the charge and to both specifi cations, but he pleaded, also, extenuating circumstances, and handed the nting circumstances, and handed the Judge Advocate a list of witnesses he wished summoned in support of his plea.

Trooper New, was the first He testified that Hamilton did open the Armory on the night of the second Thursday in April, as charged, and Troopers H. O. Butler and H. C. But-

NOT THE FIRST FIGHT.

Sergeant Hamilton asked the witness whether this was the first fight that had taken place between members of the troop, and he answered that it was not, and that the last fight that had taker place when the men wore their uniforms was at a recent picnic, when the captain of the troop and his brother, who is lieutenant, had words and passed blows.

Bugler Coleman, in reply to a question from the defendant, said he well remem bered an occasion when several member of the troop were out one night with th commandant; two of the men quarrelled, and Captain Euker took the m through a bar-room on Broad street a place where they could settle their differences without being disturbed. Lieutenant O. E. Spott testified to the prisoner's excellent character and faith fulness in the discharge of his duties. Lieutenant Charles Euker was called, but was absent, through sickness. Cor-poral August Dietz spoke in highest terms of the character of Sergeant Hamllton. When asked by the prisoner whether he had ever seen him treat Captain Euker with disrespect, he replied significantly: "Not unless provoked." When asked by the court what he meant by being provoked, he said there were limits to the patience of every man, and Captain Euker had sometimes touched ose limits in his treatment of his subordinate. When asked to be more specific, he said the Captain had spoken roughly to the prisoner, and treated him unjustly, and then Sergeant Hamilton had retorted disrespectfully.

Sergeant J. T. Anderson, Jr., said the prisoner bore the best of records, and was regarded as one of the best men in the troop, and his percentage had been invariably high. Trooper F. E. Baptist said he remembered on one occasion. said he remembered, on one occasion, the accused tendered the keys of the Armory to Captain Euker, who refused them, saying he did not mind the mere going in there if the neighbors didn't.

CAPTAIN EUKER'S SIDE. Captain Euker, taking the stand, said the Sergeant had tendered the keys to him several months ago, after he had used the Armory for a little evening party with eight or ten members of the troop. The festivities were kept up un-til a late hour, and so much noise was made that the neighbors complained. He (Captain Euker) had reprimanded the men on the next drill-night without calling names, but he had warned Sergeant Hamilton, personally, that he must not permit the Armory to be used for other than military purposes at any time. Cap-tain Euker added that except upon the two occasions of disobedience to orders specified in his charges, Hamilton had been invariably respectful and obedient. In reply to a question from the Court, Captain Euker said he had no recollection of telling Sergeant Hamilton that he might go to the Armory whenever he chose, as long as the neighbors did not object. He also said that Sergeant Hamilton was no longer a resident of Richmond, having obtained employment in Newport News in Newport News.

Sergeant Hamilton was asked if he wished to make any statement, and he said: "I didn't make the proposition to go to the Armory, and when I went there I did not think I was doing wrong." The judge advocate submitted the case without argument. The room was then cleared, and the Court deliberated upon their verdict for over half an hour, and adjourned for two weeks, when nine cases will be tried. THE CAVALRY SERGEANT PLEADS

Democrats and Populists Speak in Chesterfield-Walker With Lamb. There was an interesting joint discussion at Chesterfield Courthouse yesterday between the Democrats and Populists, Congressman John Lamb and Hop. party. The crowd was large, Judge Clopton soon vacated the court-house, and the speaking lasted nearly all day. There were few negroes present, and judging from the applause received by Messrs. Gregory and Hobson, neither the Populists nor Republicans were numerous. Mr. Diggs and Captain Lamb were given very generous applause, and both made good speeches. While Mr. Hobson was endorsed by the Republican convention held in Manchester last Saturday, he does not seem to take with the rank and file of the party. LETTER FROM DR. JONES.

Gives Second Church His Reasons for Remaining in Louisville.

Rev. Dr. Carter Helm Jones has written the Second Baptist church a letter giving at some length the reasons that influenced him to remain in Louisville after resigning from the McFerran-Memorial church with a view to accepting the call that had been extended him by the Second Baptist church, of this city. These rea-sons he gave briefly in his telegram to the Dispatch, which was printed last

The congregation of the Second church held a meeting after the morning service on Sunday, at which the letter from Dr. Jones was read, and several speeches were made in connection with it. The matter will now be dropped and the com-mittee will look further for a sultable man to recommend as pastor.

WASHINGTON. October 11.-Consul-

Habana prison, through the efforts of a representative of the New York Journal has been talked over, also, the prevailing view being that it will not lead to any International complication.

General Lee said to-day that he did not think any serious question would arise over the incident. Ex-Minister Taylor, when asked if international complications were likely to arise, answered: "I think not, and the probable result will be that Sagasta will give a royal decoration to those who have een good enough to rid Spain of this troublesome subject." Mr. Taylor will not discuss the present situation at Madrid.

LITTLE YELLOW-FEVER CHANGE. Germs Not Expected to Disappear Now Until Frost.

NEW ORLEANS, October 11 .- From the returns there is little change in the yellow-fever situation. The Board of Health is daily demonstrating that with a fair show it is possible for modern cience to restrict and stamp out the disease, but the people who must suffer from a strict application of scientific methods rebel, the result being that the pathway of the Board of Health is beset with difficulties. If there were strict compliance with the health laws, if crompt report were made of cases, the ever germs would be quickly wiped out; out it begins to look now as if from thirty to forty cases and from four to six deaths will be daily reported until Jack Prost puts in an appearance. To-day, as on nearly every day since the fever first appeared here, about 50 per cent, of the fatalities were traceable neglect, and a disposition to hide cases until it is too late to do anything to save life. The case of Robert Hite was reported to-day. He had been ill some time. The officials of Touro Infirmary agreed to re-ceive the cases, and they were at once taken to that hospital, which is largely supported by the Hebrew population, though non-sectarian.

CINCINNATI, O., October II .- A special to the Commercial Tribune from Glenville, W. Facts were brought out which seemed to weaken the testimony-in-chief. Until 3 o'clock the session was devoted to the examination of witnesses to prov that Owens, the co-defendant with Mrs

Atkinson, was, at the time of his alleged purchase of land from Judge Camden, financially unable to pay for the same. The alleged forged receipts show a payment of something like $1.40.

Owens took the stand this afternoon. In his testimony-in-chief, he stated that he had in 1879 been employed by Judge Camden; that he made a bona-fide pur-chase of land from Camden, and that he receipts for the purchase money, which the prosecution claims Mrs. Atkinson forged, are genuine, bear true date, and were written at the dictation of Judge Camden, and given to defendant for purchase money actually paid in cash and labor. He said he had been telegraphed upon the subject by the New York Journal, but that owing to his official position, it would not be proper for him to say anything.

CARL DECKER THE RESCUER.

It transpires to-night that the Journal man who so heroically rescued Miss Cisneros was Mr. Carl Decker, of this city, who was known in the matter as Charles Duval. General Lee, when I asked him about it to-night, said that he believed that Mr. Decker was the hero of the occasion, but he did not believe that the rescue of the young lady would lead to international complications.

Among the newspaper fraternity here Mr. Decker's achievement is glorified tohis way to this city, via Key West, with the beautiful Senorita in charge, he will have a magnificent reception here.

ROME, October 11 .- A large proce of tradesmen, headed by the President of the Chamber of Commerce, marched to the office of the Minister of the Interior this evening to protest against and confer with the government regarding the increased taxation. Premier Rudini, who is also Minister of the Interior, received a committee, representing the tradesmen, and promised that all possible would be done to promote friendly retations and greater equity between the Tax-Collector and the taxpayers.

In the mean while a crowd of nearly 20,000 people had collected around the ministry; angry shouts were heard, and some of those present tore up payingstones, and otherwise assumed a threatening attitude. This caused the police to make an attempt to disperse the crowd, and in the conflict which followed six policemen were injured, and one rioter was killed.

NICARAGUA REVOLUTION ENDED. The Country, However, Desires War

With Costa Rica. (Correspondence of the Associated Press.) MANAGUA, NICARAGUA, September

23.-The revolution has been suppressed. It has been a weak effort thus far by some of the ablest men in Nicaragua. They had no arms, and the people who were disposed generally to rally to the leaders, learning this, soon hid away in the woods. President Zelaya is taking strong measures to suppress forever the spirit of opposition to his rule. He is bringing suspected persons in large numbers in chains from their houses to the penitentiary at Managua without trial, and is imposing very heavy fines on them and on the absent supposed sympathizer with the revolution. The danger to-day of a continuance of war is in the fact that Zelaya has imprisoned and treated with much indignity enor Beche, Consul at Managua for Costa Rica, a warm personal friend of Presi-dent Iglesias, of Costa Rica. Beche was at Granada at the time the revolution commenced there, on the night of September 17th. It is quite probable that the Diet will recall Senor Beche's successor, and then probably he will be sent out of Nicaragua without trial. But it appears that Costa Rica has declared a state of war, and is concentrating her forces to resent the alleged insuit. If Beche is guility, as charged, it is claimed that he should be tried in Nicaragua, and punished as well as dismissed, but the character of the witnesses and testimony should
